rexy's Pasture . . . this is the campus we know, enveloped in the green lawns
f summer. Against the backdrop of mountains, we walk the many pathways o our classes.

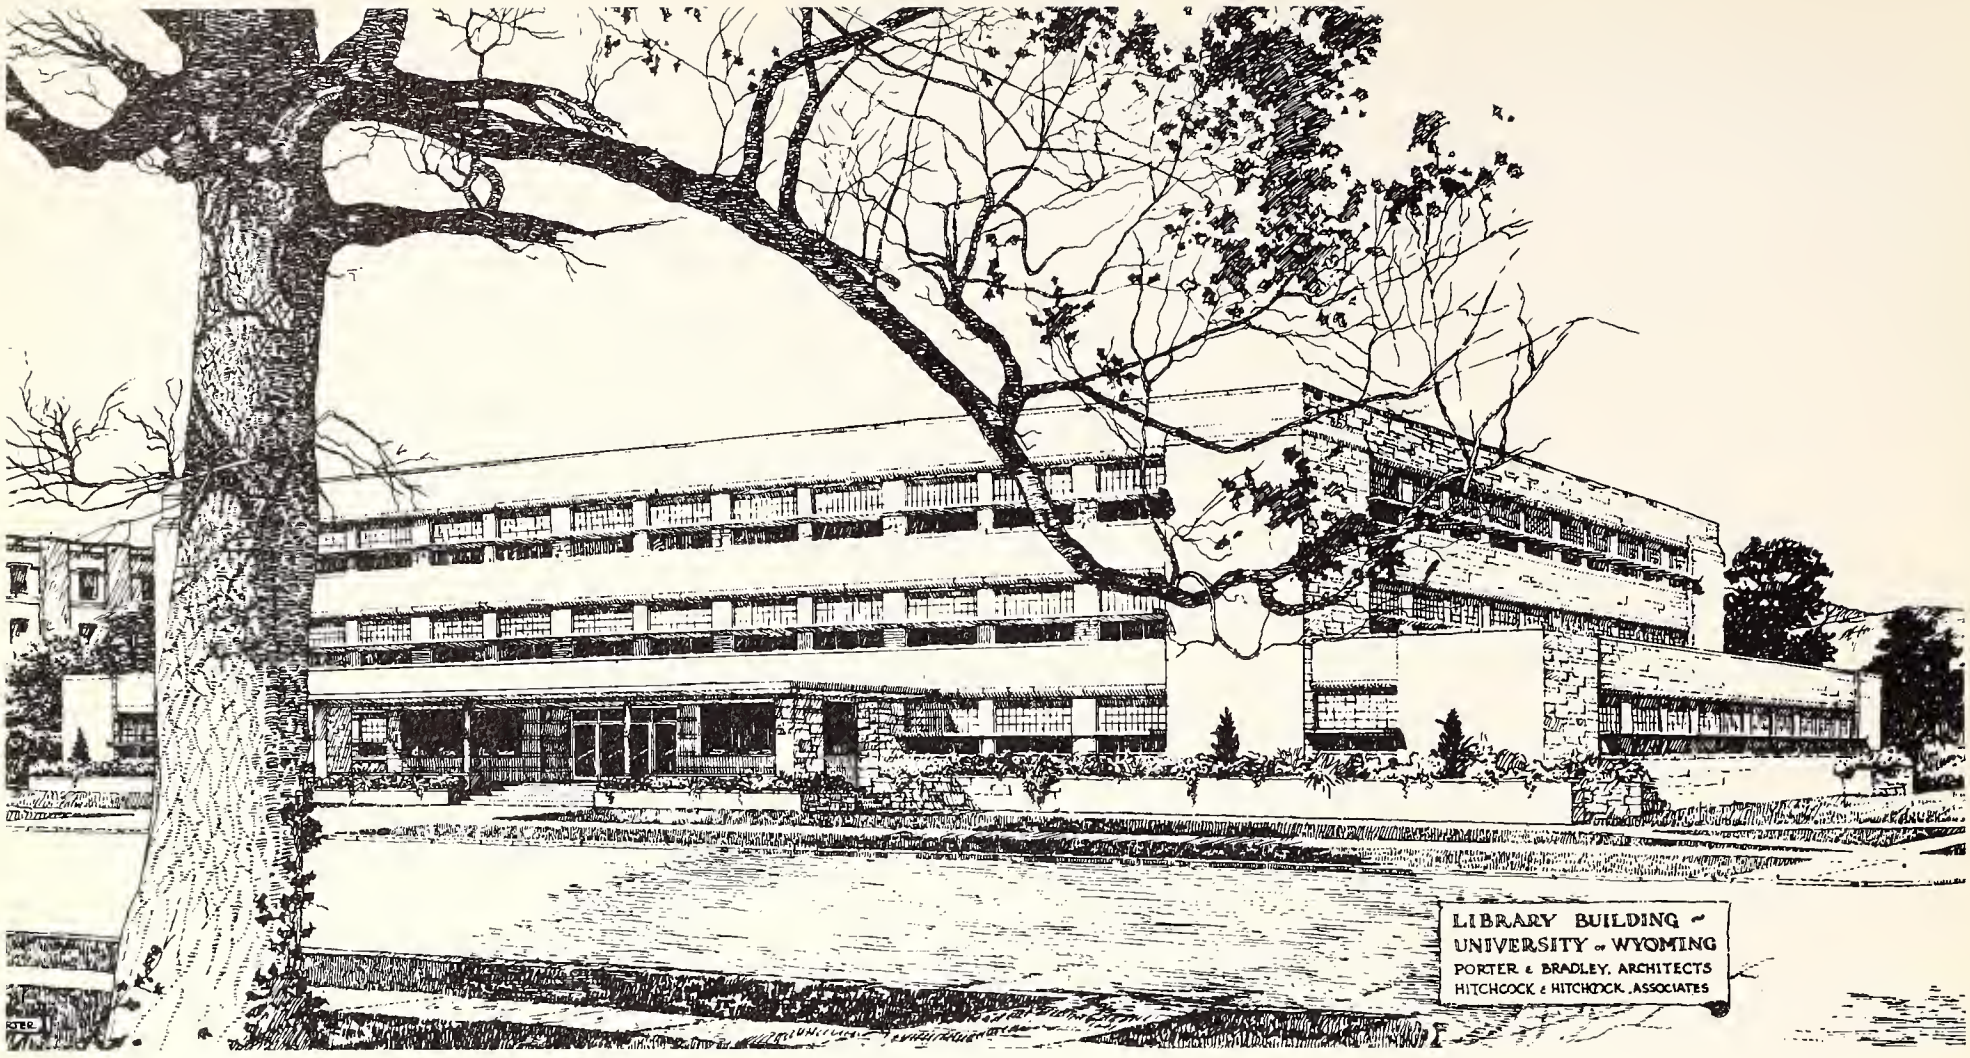
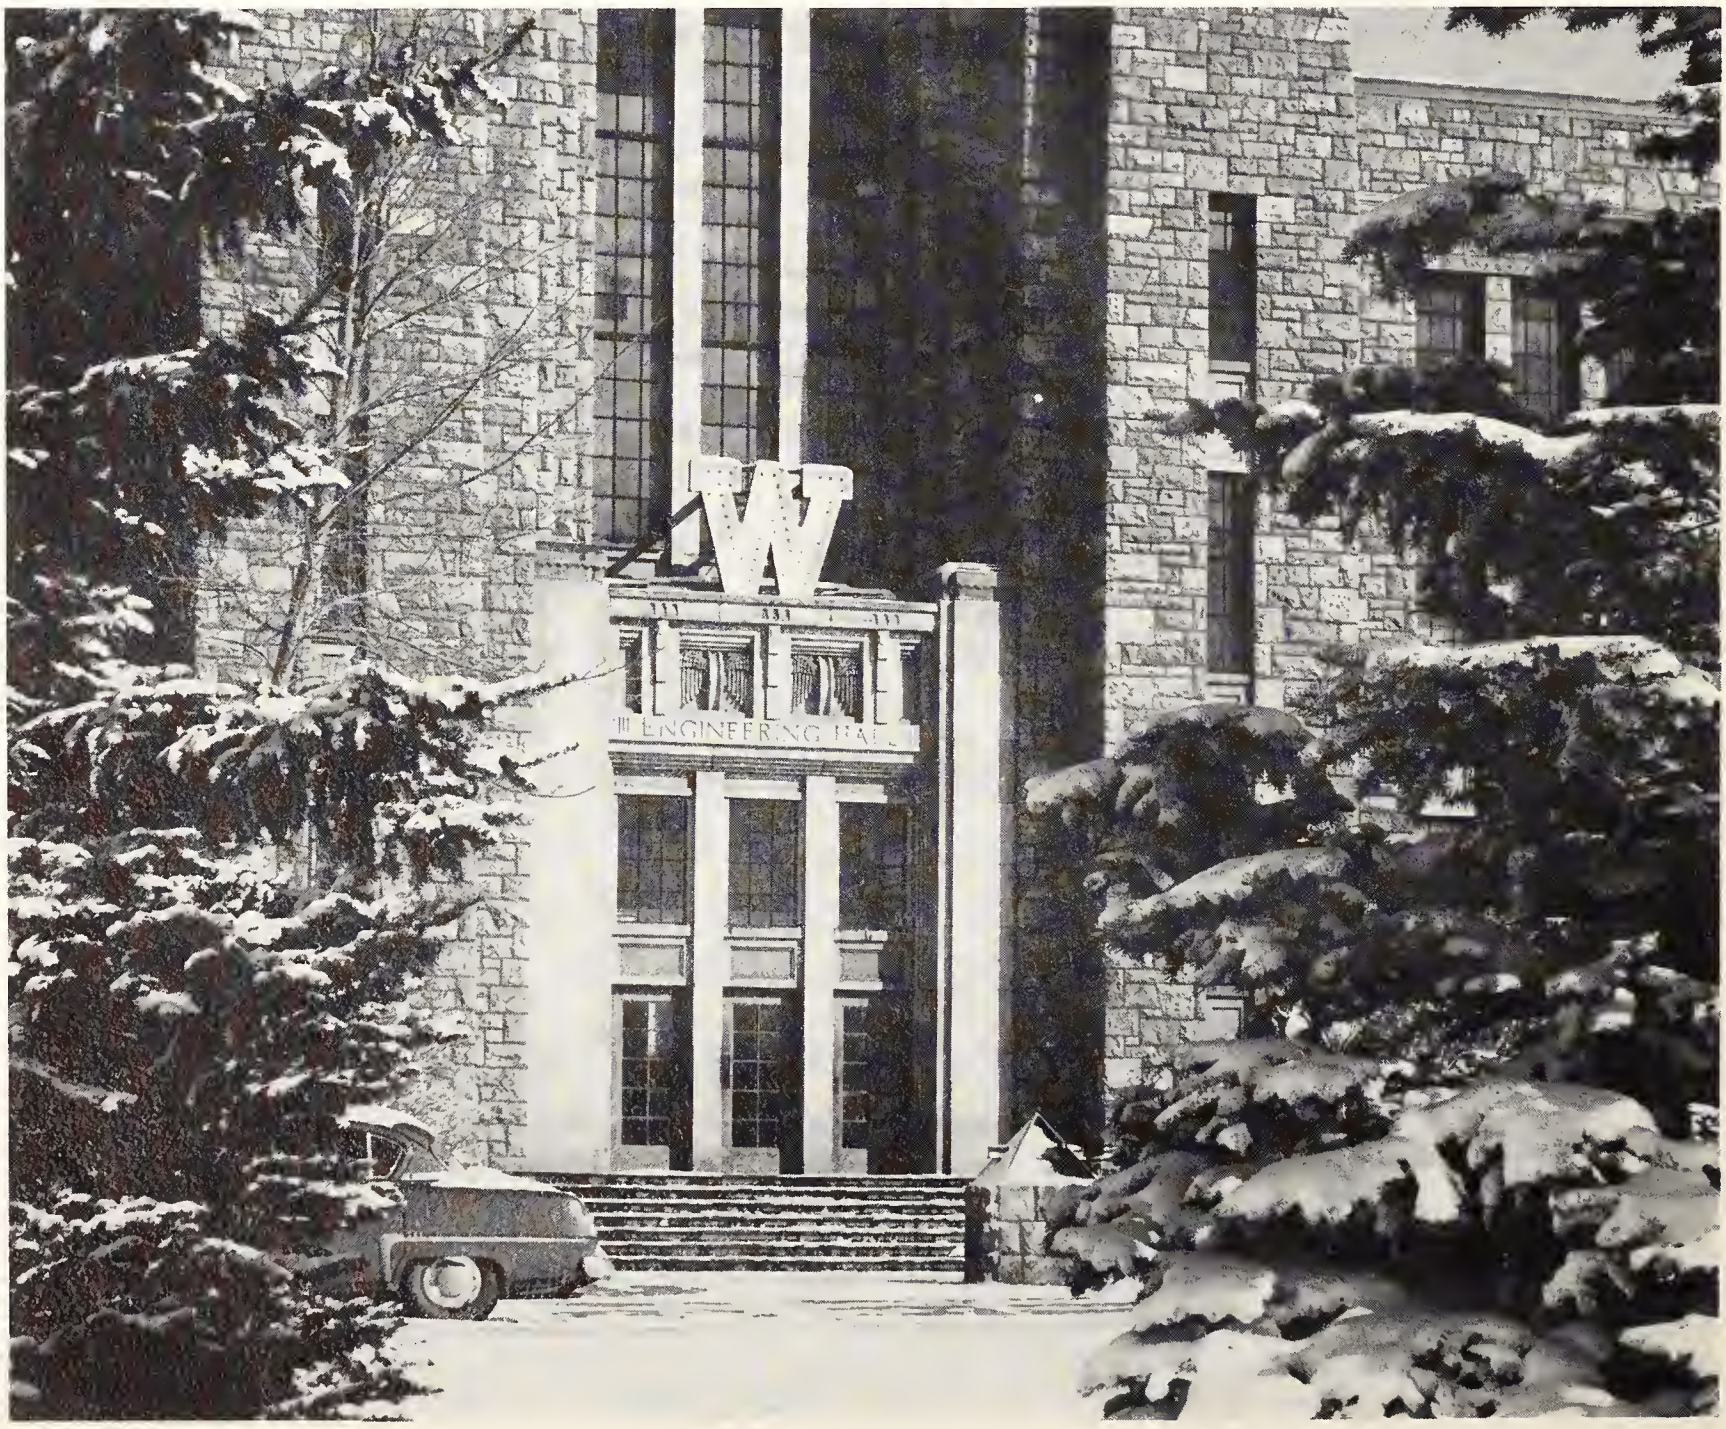
Framed in a doorway of pines, the classical designs of the Education building emphasize the high ideals of the university.



Still growing, the University is in the midst of an expansion program to meet the needs of increased enrollment. Pictured is the architect's sketch of the new Coe Library.



Winter snows frost the trees in front of the Engineering building.

Set in the midst of spacious grounds is Wyoming's oldest building .. Old Main.

A rare sight indeed is the Agriculture building with no signs of life.

THE UNIVERSITY OF WYOMING

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT
OLD MAIN

LARAMIE, WYOMING

Dear Wyoming Students:

In the seventy years since its establishment the University of Wyoming has grown from one building costing $85,000 to a physical plant valued at more than $17,000,000. From a student body of 48 students it has grown to 3,100 resident students, with thousands more enrolled in off-campus correspondence and extension courses. The first faculty had seven members; today there are almost 340 full-time faculty members.

The figures listed above give some idea of the University's growth during the seven decades of its history. But they do not begin to tell the full story of the progress that has been made. Over the years the University has gradually arrived at its goal of becoming a state-wide university, reaching and serving every person in the state, and its progress has been closely related to the growth and development of the state.

As Wyoming's only four-year institution, the University will strive always to increase and improve its contribution to a growing, progressing state.

Sincerely yours,

G. D. Humphrey

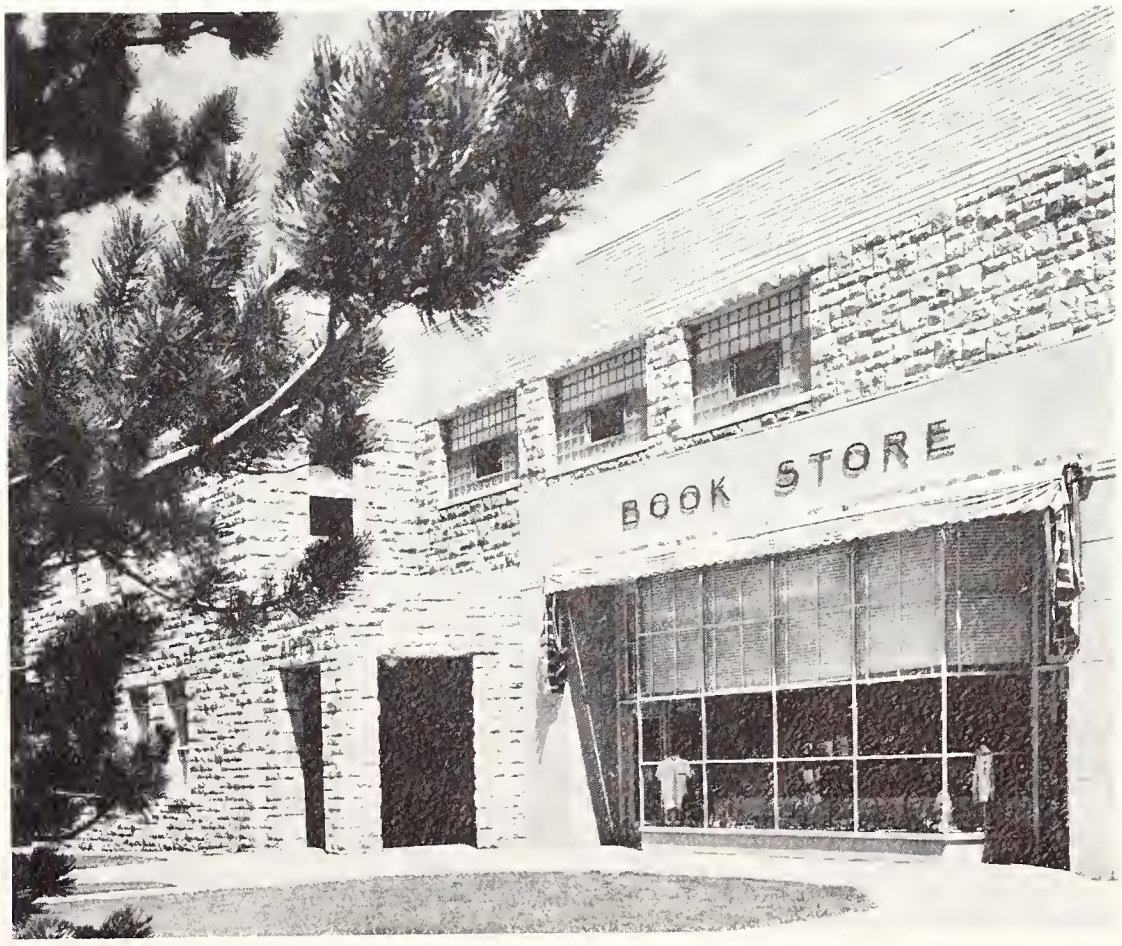
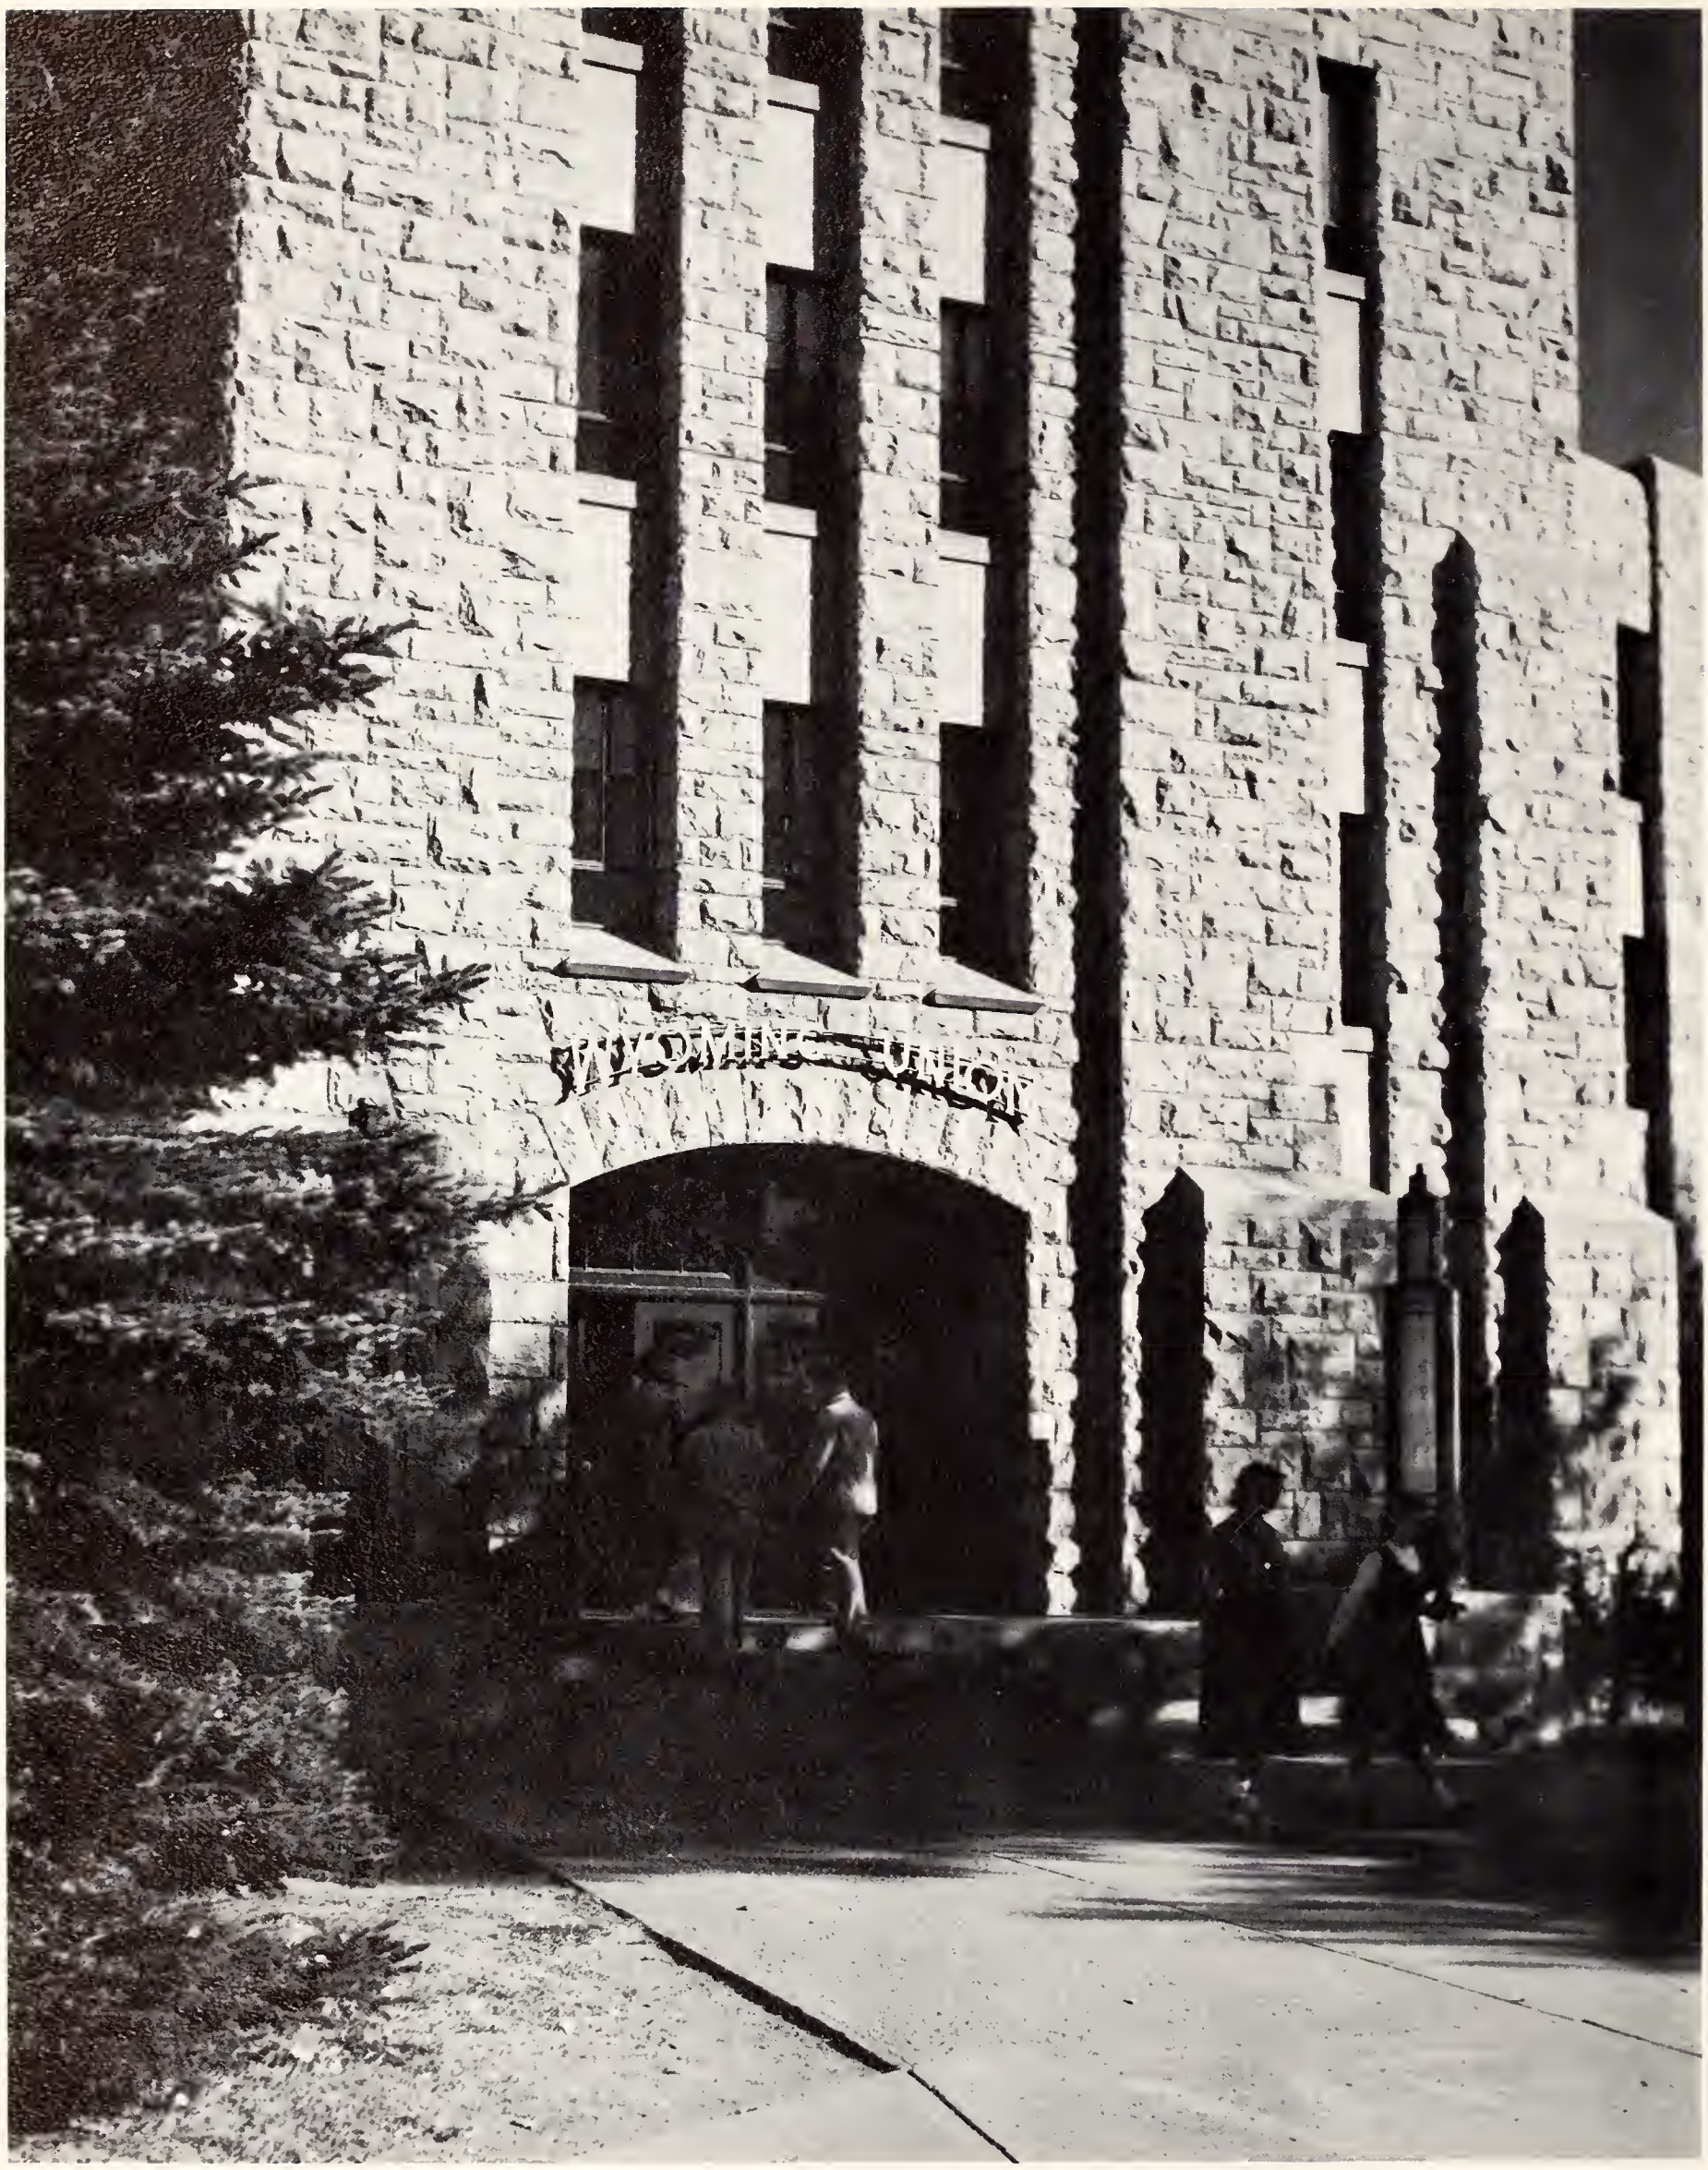
The summer sun beats down on the Arts and Sciences building, home of the largest college on campus.

Early Autumn finds the campus at its prettiest . . . with rich greens of the native pines mixed with the reds and yellows of falling leaves.

Further proof of the continued expansion is the new Geology building, completed in 1955.



Activity centers around the Bookstore during the first weeks of the school year.



Headquarters for practically every student on campus is the Wyoming Union.

Student Union Addition

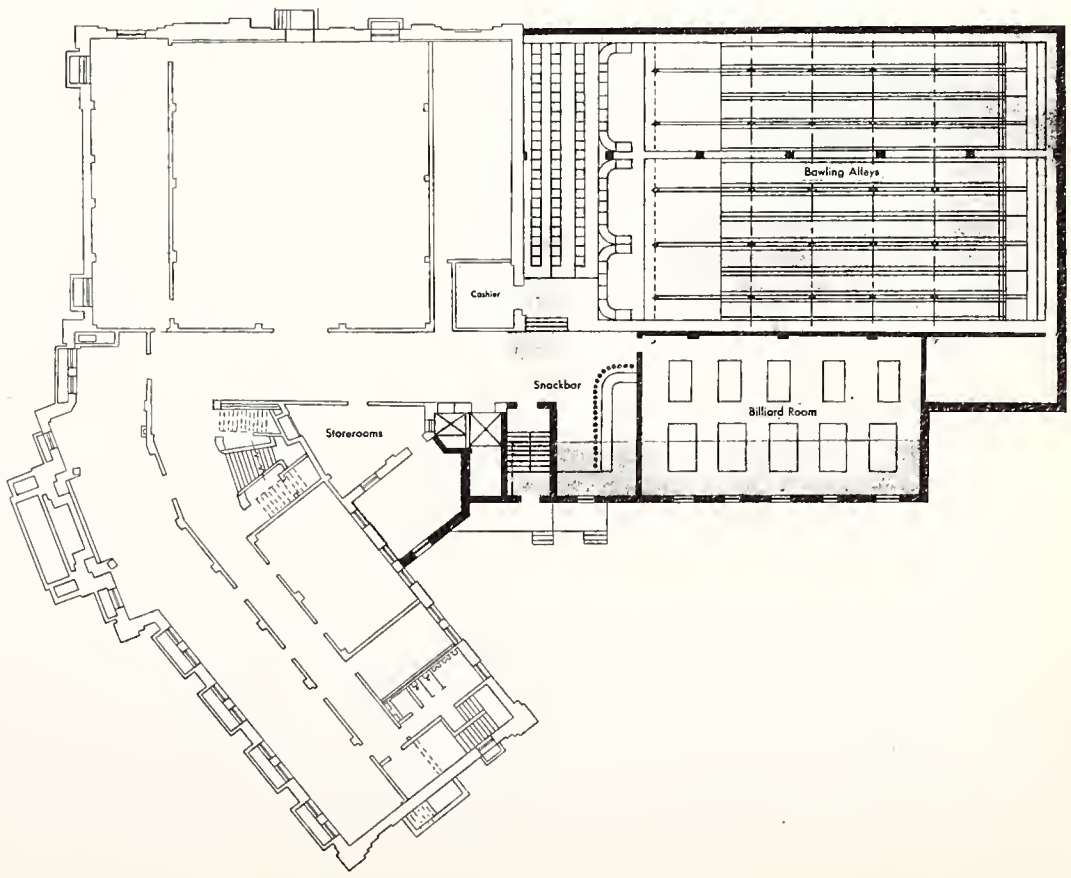
The 1957-58 state of Wyoming Legislature approved a $625,000 addition to the existing Student Union. Pictured here on these pages are tentative plans for the addition which will be started sometime this fall.



Beautiful Knight Hall . . .
home of 200 undergrad

Men's Residence Hall . . . home of Wyoming athletes.

Wyoming Hall is the newest dormitory on campus and houses 400 male students.

One of the newer buildings on campus is the Law building.

Winter snows grace the path to the old library.

The stone fountain and bench lie nearly hidden in pines and fallen leaves.

Wyoming's

The story of the University of Wyoming is one of Progress. As the only four-year institution in the state, its purpose is complex. The Campus is more than Prexy's Pasture, it is the entire state of Wyoming. Students from forty-five states and several foreign nations gather here to pursue their educations. The University has grown from one building and thirteen students in 1887 to a thirteen million dollar plant with an enrollment of over three thousand in 1957. The school has won nation-wide recognition in many fields: research, athletics, leadership, to name but a few.

Story

With the junior colleges in the state, the University is providing an opportunity for higher education for all. Progress can be seen throughout the campus. The building program is continuing as the new library's steel structure so graphically portrays. However, the story of Wyoming University is more than one of buildings. Through the pages of the WYO, you will see the students and faculty at their work and their play; you will see the many extras that make college life; you will see Progress in action. . .the University of Wyoming.

Leadership

Now call we our high court of Parliament:
And let us choose such limbs of noble
Counsel,
That the great body of our State
may go
In equal rank with the best-govern'd
Nation.

Student Senate

The students of the University of Wyoming are governed by a group of twenty-four representatives chosen by popular election each spring. This is the Student Senate. Each of the colleges on campus are represented according to enrollment in that college. In regular open meetings each Wednesday, the Senate handles problems in almost every phase of student life. IFC is a group of young men with a mission — a two-fold mission. Traditionally, the main function of this group has been to supervise pledging and rush programs, but the IFC group has taken on another main function. After a national report revealed that UW fraternities were inadequate in scholarship the group started a program to correct this problem. And so today the IFC dialog which states, "The college fraternity stands for excellence in scholarship," corresponds with the UW program. On the lighter side of IFC, the group sponsors the IFC dance and have as their king the Ugliest Man. This honor went to Lou Bockius this year.

The Panhellenic Council is the governing body of all sororities on campus. Membership is made up of two representatives from each sorority, an alumni advisor from each sorority, and a general Panhell advisor. Rotation is the keynote of this organization, with the presidency rotating among sororities according to the length of time they have been on campus. JoAnn McGill, Kappa Kappa Gamma, heads the group this year. At bi-monthly meetings the members discuss rush programs. The group sets up all rushing rules, determines the number of social functions each group can have, puts the stamp of approval on prospective actives, and decides if any illegal rushing practices have occurred.

Panhellenic Council

Associated Women Students Board

The self-governing board of UW women, AWS is composed of a representative of each of the women's organizations on campus, including dorms and sorority houses. This group plays a leading role on campus and stresses cultural interest and scholastic attainment. The publication of this group is the coed Koran, a legal guide for housemother and coed alike. This informs girls what to do, how to do it, what not to do and why and how not to do it. Giving AWS points is one of the main features of this group. These points are attained for such infamous crimes as being late or failing to sign out. After achieving so many points a girl is entitled to a campus — a sure fire system of assuring one a quiet evening at home, untroubled by visitors, phone calls, or other similar distractions.

Mortar Board

The cream-of-the-crop, these few select UW seniors have the highest honor that can reward a coed for leadership, service, and scholarship. These busy gals sponsor Torchlight Laurels, a recognition tea, and assist at the Dean of Women's Tea. Climaxing the year the members of Mortar Board organized the first annual Mortar Board leadership conference, the purpose of which was to promote school spirit and help in recognizing campus leaders.

Omicron Delta Kappa

Sponsoring the ODK leadership camp, these members meet, before school opens, at the UW recreation camp to discuss campus problems and have a lot of fun. Leaders from all walks of campus life meet for this major function of ODK. Standing in the upper one-fourth of their class, and amassing enough points from participating in campus affairs such as religious, social, governmental, and publications is a prerequisite for membership in this all men's group. High on the ODK agenda is the selection of the outstanding faculty member.

Homecoming, 1956

The spirit of Homecoming roared onto the University campus this fall as the student body turned out for a pep rally and bonfire at Corbett Field. Amid cheers, shouts, and shooting flames, Homecoming weekend had begun. The traditional Iron Skull Sing was held in the Fieldhouse with the Tri Delts, Sigma Nus, and Knight Hall copping top honors. Patty O'Melia was crowned queen and Marian Ries was her attendant. With the Potter Law Club as escorts, the two had just completed a week's whirlwind tour of the state. The majorettes had new uniforms and the cheerleaders roared their way through the game as Wyoming's undefeated Cowboys made it a winning day all the way around by defeating the Utah University Redskins 30-20. This year's parade was the biggest ever with the Sigma Chis, the Phi Delts, and the Ceratopsians winning first prizes with their floats. Joe Capua, Wyoming's Little All-America, won the coveted Admiral Emory S. Land award as the University's outstanding athlete and Tracy S. McCracken was honored as the outstanding alumnus of the University.

Seeking to better the field of medical technology, these future practitioners are members of Alpha Delta Theta. These girls participate in discussion groups, movies, and visits to nearby clinics to watch theories put into action. Their one love seems to be lab work, for besides spending hours in zoology lab, chemistry lab and physics lab, they also work and study in the med lab in downtown Laramie.

Alpha Epsilon Delta

The function of AED honorary, pre-med fraternity, is to encourage students to get information and help in their pre-med studies. These students are chosen strictly on the basis of scholastic standing in science and non-science courses, after being evaluated by three faculty members on character, leadership, and aptitude. The group actively participates in Campus Health Week and the March of Dimes drive, and also chooses two prominent Wyoming physicians as honorary members. The all important program of the group is made up of guest speakers, discussions, films, and an extensive social program, of which the spring picnics are the most popular.

Alpha Kappa Psi

The purpose of this group of future business and industrial men is to acquaint its members with the business and industrial world. At the bi-monthly meetings, the difficulties and problems in the field of commerce are discussed. To supplement the program, Alpha Kappa Psi members take several field trips to large business and manufacturing concerns to see the objects of their study put to use. To top off the year each spring an Alpha Kappa Psi medallion is presented to the highest ranking senior in the college of commerce and industry.

Interested in promoting Future Farmers of America, these future vocational agriculture teachers assist in the state FFA judging contest and convention. In addition to promoting a professional spirit in their chosen field, these agriculture majors also take part in vocational agriculture activities and conduct leadership conferences. This honorary demands a personal achievement in the field of agriculture along with a standing in the upper two-fifths of the class, and an active interest in a future of agriculture. These men are getting top training in the theories of crop rotation and animal breeding; consequently they will go out as top trained farmers and ranchers into many communities. One of the non-agriculture accomplishments is the AZ bib overall initiation. To attain the honor of carrying a rake and wearing a straw hat, one must achieve high requirements in personality, leadership ability, and hard work. At the end of the year two freshmen receive two scholarships; one for outstanding work in 4-H, and the other goes to a vocational agriculture major.

Society of American Military Engineers

An aggregate of all military forces represented on campus, the Society of American Military Engineers is composed of students interested in engineering and enrolled in advanced military. The primary purpose of this organization is to promote interest in military constructions. These men learn the art of constructions of roads, bridges, and other necessary building achievements needed in war. But apart from this serious side the group engages in meetings and enjoys talks by speakers from nearby military bases.

Big Sisters

Herding the new "Greenies" each fall is the primary function of the Big Sister organization. A board of Big Sisters chooses the new members by reading letters from girls interested in aiding incoming freshman and transfer students. To help new girls get settled and acquainted the Big Sisters send out letters to their little sisters in the summer telling her what to wear and what to bring to college. The Big Sisters also put on a fashion show, assist with the Dean's Tea for new women students, and administer the AWS test to freshman and transfer students.

Chi Gamma Iota

Restricted to those with an average of 2.00 or above, this veteran's honorary is primarily interested in backing bills in the US Congress pertinent to their interests. Furthering the veteran's standing is Chi Gamma Iota's main purpose. They also honor a full slate of social activities, including monthly meetings, a Christmas smorgasboard, initiation, and socials. As a highlight of their year this group presents an honor book to the outstanding veteran student.

Engineering Council

The elite of the slide rule set, Engineering Council is composed of two members from each of the five engineering societies, two from Sigma Tau, engineering honorary, and the engineering senators. Coordination of engineering activities is the main purpose of the Council, and it also acts as a work-assuring and governing board for the activities. The Engineering open house, Engineering smoker, and the Engineers' Ball are all under the authority of the Council.

Kappa Kappa Psi

Tops in pops, Kappa Kappa Psi members are one of the busiest groups on campus, as these band men take trips with the Cowboy band during football season, travel to band clinics in Wyoming and Colorado, and attend concerts and various other music shows during the remainder of the year. Tau Beta Sigma, the female counterpart of Kappa Kappa Psi, joins the men to give the annual spring banquet and ball. Wherever and whenever there's music in the air, KKP members are there in full force.

Fourth Estate

"And yonder stands the Fourth Estate," Edmund Burke, 1789. Of course after saying this powerful line, Edmund Burke naturally became patron saint of Fourth Estate. Climaxing the year of toil in the smoky interiors of the BI and Wyo offices, these editors and jounalism majors never fail to enjoy a spring picnic, after incessent battes of meeting deadlines and headlines.

Psi Chi

Probers of the subconscious . . . Psi Chi members are chosen on a basis of interest and scholarship in the field of psychology. In order to be eligible for membership in this honorary, a student must possess a 2:00 average in psychology. Socially, the members enjoy meetings, speakers, and s o c i a l functions.

Independent Students Organization

Newly reorganized this spring, ISA seeks to provide social opportunities, service, and civic activities for all non-Greek students. Top on ISA's social calendar is the Rocky Mountain Regional ISA Convention. But this group does not have its end in conventions, for they sponsor a winter and spring formal dance, and have entries in the Homecoming parade and sing. The activities all help in ISA's goal of bettering Greek-independent relations.

Iron Skull

Each spring, among the sophomore members of each organization, there is a hushed feeling of hope and expectancy. As the new members of this group, two from each organization, are tapped at Torchlight Laurels. These outstanding juniors sponsor the annual Homecoming Sing and Iron Skull Skid. There is stiff competition among sororities, fraternities, and independents for the covetedtrophies presented to the outstanding singing groups. However, even though Homecoming is the main feature of Iron and Skull, they also sponsor welfare drives, dances, and parties. These outstanding juniors are chosen for their scholarship as well as their activity participation.

Kappa Delta Pi

Ranking above the upper one-fifth of the University, Kappa Delta Pi represents the excellency of the educators. These members of graduate or junior standing or above participate in awarding honor books, sending a delegate to the national convention, and awarding a scholarship to the outstanding student in the college of education. Seeking to encourage high professional, intellectual, and personal standards, and recognizing prominent contributions in the field of education, summarizes the purposes of the KDP organization.

Phi Delta Kappa

Dividing their program into a triparite, these outstanding male upperclassmen and graduate students participate in: cooperating in national research studies in education; sponsoring educational activities for interested educators and laymen; and holding monthly meetings. Rigidly based on scholarship, leadership, research, and service, only a few prominent upperclassmen and graduate students can achieve membership. Annually in May the group selects an outstanding undergraduate man in the college of education and presents him with the coveted honor book.

American Pharmaceutical Association

The Eli Lilly House in Indianapolis, the Upjohn Company in Kalamazoo, Michigan, and the Abbott Laboratory in Chicago, what interesting sounding names, and even of more interest to the lucky member of the American Pharmaceutical Association who receives a paid trip to inspect these companies. This club also sponsors a trip to the district or national convention, as well as a carnival and a pharmacy week. Even with so many activities these members find plenty of time to study, and as a result the annual award to the top freshman is always a difficult decision to make.

Phi Delta Chi

The purpose of this organization of future pill-pushers is to stimulate interest and understanding among the members of the pharmaceutical profession. The members of this national pharmacy honorary attend conventions, hold special meetings featuring guest speakers, and conduct debates and roundtable discussions as a side activity. Holding two initiations per year, only second semester sophomores and upperclassmen are eligible to unite with PDC. Recognition is given to the outstanding member by having his name engraved on the plaque which is hung in the PDC meeting room. The social highlight of the year is the annual founders' day banquet.

Potter Law Club

UW's "Men in the grey-flannel suits" are the full time law students and faculty members who make up the Potter Law Club. The most celebrated function of the legal eagles are the moot court trials held each spring, which promote such crimes as murder in Prexy's pasture and robbery in the cafeteria. Under the advisorship of Dean Robert R. Hamilton and Chancellor Jim Cox, the club serves as the governing body of the law college.

Moot Trials 1957

I didn't actually see it, but if you ask me. . .

He was my man, but he done me wrong.

Each spring, Potter Law Club sponsors a series of moot trials. The trials take place after a sudden crime wave invades the campus. This year, everything from murder to kidnapping took place at the University.

Life's little problems.

Just tell the jury.

Phi Epsilon Phi

Phi Ep's spend their time promoting school spirit and sponsoring the annual Sweater Dance. Now in their second year, the pep men are chosen on the basis of leadership and spirit on the campus. Only two from each organization on campus are elected to display the white sweater of Phi Epsilon Phi. The organization provides information to the new freshman each fall during orientation week. Also high on their agenda is the all school sweater dance at which the Sweater Queen is chosen, and the annual spring picnic held with their female counterpart, the Spurs. Besides promoting school spirit this group gives recognition to male underclassmen.

Pi Delta Epsilon

It's a long jaunt from the Journalism lab to Publications row in the basement of the Union, but this motley crew of UW journalists become familiar with the path before their days at Wyoming are over. Concerned with pica poles, printing, and the press, this group does take time out to honor campus leaders each spring with the Gridiron Banquet. The affair is a general hair-letting-down session with no holds barred and is designed to create a greater understanding between the students and the administration. Pi Delts also sponsors the annual Inkslingers' Queen contest and Inkslingers' Ball. This year's judges for the contest were Bob and Ray. In addition to the fun, Pi Delt chooses the outstanding freshman journalism major and presents this student with an honor book at the awards assembly.

Phi Gamma Nu

Row I: Elizabeth Strannigan, Betty Farthing, Marianne Schuele, Margat Rugherford, Emma Ja Hatch, Sharon Edens.

Primarily interested in their BA (instead of the earnestly sought MRS.) these business women of tomorrow belong to a group that encourages friendship, high scholarship, participation in school activities, and interest in civic and professional enterprises. Banquets, parties, and the endless meetings keep these gals plenty busy. This professional commerce sorority lists as its important club functions, the Student Business Conference and the Campus Carnival. Highlighting the year's activities is the presentation of the scholarship key to the senior member having the highest grade average.

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia

Handy with the horns, strings, and reeds, Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia members are chosen on the basis of interest and participation in campus musical activities. Members must have a 2.00 grade average. Phi Mu also sponsors a Division of Music concert programs, provides ushers for regular music programs, seeks to advance the cause of music in America, and fosters the mutual welfare and brotherhood of music students. Two annual recitals are held each year; a pledge recital and a contemporary American program, and each October the annual Founder's Day banquet is held.

Phi Upsilon Omicron

The oldest honorary on campus, Phi Upsilon Omicron chooses its members on the basis of professional interest in the field and scholarship in the upper two-fifths of their class. In order to attain interest in their domestic studies, these girls give freshman teas and founders' day banquets, and to fatten the treasury, they print and sell high altitude cook books, and stage candy and bake sales. Home base for Phi Upsilon Omicron members is the Home Economics department in the Agriculture building and the Home Management house on Ivinson, where the fine points of maintaining a home are stressed. As a culmination of their year, each spring an award is presented to the outstanding freshman in the division of Home Economics.

Phi Kappa Phi

Sharing honors with Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Kappa Phi emerges as one of the top scholastic honoraries on campus. The differences between these two top national honoraries is merely one of selection, as PKP chooses its members from all colleges. With only a very few top seniors qualifying for this honorary, the primary motive of this group is academic. At the honors banquet Phi Kappa Phi gives recognition to its new initiates and members.

Sigma Tau

Living in a world of slide rules, transits, and drawing boards, engineering students can never be accused of taking snap courses; but apart from this busy life these top students find time to sponsor s m o k e r s, an Engineering Queen candidate, the Engineering banquet, and numerous social and professional meetings. These are iron men, as each new pledge can assure you after a traditional apprenticeship period, in which in past years the aspirant has been known to carry, securely strapped around his neck, a small slice of the UP railroad track. Highlighting the year's calendar events is the selection of the top freshman engineering students.

Spurs

Among the busiest on campus are these wearers of the white sweaters and skirts. To be eligible for membership in this pep organization a girl must have earned a 2:25 grade average and have participated in many campus organizations. These sophomore women sponsor the Pepsters, conduct open house tours, and usher at games, concerts, and assemblies. However, the chief objective is spuring the Wyoming Cowboys on to victory by mass cheering at UW athletic contests. This year on Valentine's day the Spurs conducted a singing valentine program, and brought cheer to social groups on campus.

Tau Beta Sigma

Heading the band organization for women, Tau Beta Sigma chooses its members on the basis of their interest in music, previous loyal and dependable service to the band, as well as a 3:00 overall grade average. Seeking to promote friendship and loyalty among band members, TBS plans many band activities.

"W" Club

Promoting higher and better standards of sportsmanship is the aim of this group of athletic lettermen. Also high on their program is promoting better relations between students and athletes on campus. The "W" on their sweaters stands for welcome committee for Hoyt Hall, some say; however, these men have sweated out long hard practice sessions on the gridiron, on the hardwood, on the cinders, on the mat, or on the cement court, in order to win this yellow "W." The social highlight of the "W" club is the annual spring picnic.

Women's Athletic Association

In order to provide a well balanced program for the UW coed, WAA sponsors intramural activities of a wide range. Annually featured and hotly contested are volleyball, bowling, basketball, softball, ping pong, swimming, and tennis. In the fall WAA sponsors an intercollegiate volleyball sports day with many Rocky Mountain universities attending. To acquaint high school students with UW facilities for girls this group sponsored a high school play day. Any coed, who has participated in one intramural program is eligible for membership in WAA.

Wyo

The book was conceived in May, out of Chaos by Chance. Tony Darnell, Newsfoto's mustached lothario, cursed Wyoming weather while he shot color film, and everyone else shot the bull. Nobody did layout over the summer, but the editor is pretty well laid out now. Rowena was initiated to the brainwash when it came time to sort out the class pictures and Ann started the first of her ingenious and incomprehensible systems. With no human possibility for error we opened the envelopes and found 1) Dickensheets in Potter Law Club, 2) Potter Law Club in the wastebasket, 3) Archie in the Angels. We had fellows on the staff, too. Harper labored under the misapprehension that film comes from faucets. When we wanted illustrations we asked Vic Cook. "Feelthy pictures?" he asked. "Yes," we said, and he did. In October, the boys next door started their anti-segregation campaign which culminated when they called the campus cops about a KKK meeting in front of the Union. Kidd sweated sports, and the whole staff sweated the measles. Perue's oily influence kept Dickensheets from strangling Norman, and Norman from strangling the finance committee. Strangers were greeted with growls and flying typewriter parts. In conclusion, kind words go to those who cheered the editor and staff through the dark times. It's been a great year. Haw!

Branding Iron

Holy Knight of Ye Free Press Bohrer moved into the "Home of the Brave" this year with revolution and reform on the brain. His first act was to order all subversive and obscene literature removed from the walls and the office. While Bohrer calmly barricaded the door with stacks of old English novels, Hassheider crusaded the cause of Playboy and Larson waved the white flag. Norman and Kidd, the publications "Jekyll and Hyde" called down the wrath of Dicken-sheets, master-mind of next door skid row, by monopolizing the phone, the typewriter, and by calling Ev "Phil." Larson's 3-D society column — Decency, Dullness, and Discrepancy, and Perue's hand-scrawled news releases (straight from the news service) kept everybody howling. Reynolds, sole remnant of Bohemianism, worked valiantly to raise the cultural level of the staff, aided and abetted by Grandma Larson. The Phantom smuggled in his weekly smears to "Irons" by way of secret courier. Attempts by Reynolds and Larson (they even joined the Pogo Club) to turn the rag into a legion of decency failed. While Cole, talked, Norman played. The only bona fide workers in sight were the freshmen. Hassheider preached against segregation, and the Republicans — then ran for cover as the Minute Women came in screaming for the kill. Between the shape-up sheet and a minor war with the libertines on the WYO staff, Bohrer managed to put out the largest paper in BI history, stay on the good side of the Student Senate, the registrar, and the Union janitors.

Student-Faculty Director

Editor Dick Perue and Business Manager Jeanne Slater found the routine of putting out the campus directory something of an uneventful, routine job. The Directory, however, is one of the most used of the campus publications, and proves an invaluable aid to WYO editors, BI reporters and students who have need of a little "black book" of addresses and phone numbers.

Dude Handbook

A bible to incoming freshmen and new students on the UW campus is the Dude Handbook. The handbook outlines campus traditions and provides a handy guide on social etiquette and where to go for what during the first hectic weeks of fall semester. The 1956 Editor, Ron Dalley was unable to have his picture taken because Uncle Sam called, so we threw in the 1957 editor instead.

Division of Music

The Division of Music, a member of NASM, offers intensive training and major study in piano, voice, organ, violin, orchestral and band instruments, or theory leading to a Bachelor of Music degree or a Bachelor of Arts degree in Music education. In addition to offering these various fields of instruction, the Music department offers a series of recitals and concerts each year.

The A Cappella choir of 80 voices is composed of students chosen by individual auditions and is open to all University students. In addition to its regular program, this group toured a portion of the state this year.

The concert and marching band is under the direction of Charles Seltenrich and Donald Harris and includes the ROTC band. Membership is open to both men and women students. Below is seen the Marching band going through one of its formations and the UW twirlers and drum major.

The Wyoming University Theater contributes much to the cultural level of the campus through the several productions staged each year. The past season was no exception with such plays as The Moon Is Blue, Uncle Tom's Cabin, The Caine Mutiny Court Martial, The Rainmaker, and Much Ado About Nothing being presented. Under the direction of speech department head Richard R. Dunham, the UW theater presented its second annual faculty play. The entire cast was composed of faculty and administration personnel.

All-America

JIM CRAWFORD

An impressive list of honors has piled up for Jim Crawford, UW's outstanding tailback, with the close of the 1956 football season. A list of the honors is as follows: Look Magazine All-America, NEA All America, UP All America (third team), Skyline back of the year, UP All Skyline, East-West game, North-South game (declined), Senior Bowl, College All-Star team, Fifth in nation in scoring, 96 points, First in nation in rushing, 1,104 yards, holds Skyline rushing record, Outstanding player award, Sun Bowl, 1956.

Gentleman Jim presents a real story of accomplishment. This Greybull, Wyoming product was also honored in most of Wyoming's major cities and was doubly honored by having his hometown rename their high school football field in his name.

Wyoming 40 ---- Western State 13

LARAMIE, SEPTEMBER 15. Wyoming started a winning season today by smashing Western State College of Gunnison, Colorado. This game, regarded by many as a preliminary for next week's trip to Tucson to meet the University of Arizona, saw the Pokes maul a hapless Western State team despite the brilliant play of the Coloradan's Bill Rhoades, top small college ground gainer.

The Cowboys took less than four minutes to score their first touchdown of the 1956 campaign when Jim Crawford, Wyoming's power running tailback, smashed 79 yards to pay dirt on the seventh play of the ball game.

Cowboy coach Phil Dickens expressed disappointment in the way his team looked. However, Dickens said, "If we play as loosely as we did today against Western State, we'll be beaten badly by Arizona. Believe me, there were far too many mistakes."

But what more can we say? Each of the 6,618 opening day fans had a whale of a time.

Wyoming 26 ---- Arizona 20

TUCSON, SEPTEMBER 29. Wyoming went South with an injury-ridden team and dark prophecies that the "Cats would maul the Cowboys." It just wasn't so. Wyoming wrapped up the first victory the Pokes had taken from the University of Arizona in four games.

More than a dozen sophomores helped push the Pokes to their rugged victory over Arizona, but the veteran lettermen paid a hard price in injuries. Once more, the standout performer of the game was tailback Jim Crawford, of Greybull, Wyoming. He scored two touchdowns and gained 130 yards. The game's winning touchdown was scored by Crawford on a nine-yard run. Crawford also kicked the extra points for the Pokes.

Arizona, forced into the air with the injury of halfback Art Lupino, made the first score of the game after a 94-yard drive. Arizona at one point had the score tied 13-13 when the Wildcat's Don Beasley scored from the 11-yard line on a pitch out play.

The Pokes showed real promise on this balmy Arizona night. In fact, promise enough to smash on to a conference championship.

Wyoming 27 ---- Denver 0

LARAMIE, SEPTEMBER 29. Was this poetic justice? 16,698 shouting fans remembering last year's Denver 6—Wyoming 3 robbery, watched the Pikes gain vengeance and dump the Pioneers 27-0.

Wyoming took its third straight victory of the season by manhandling a weak Denver eleven. Jim Crawford, Wyoming's prospective all-American tailback, picked up half the Poke's rushing yardage with 123 yards in the gridiron landslide.

The Cowboys looked like sure winners from the start with the main question being just how badly the Pokes would beat DU. As the game ended, Wyoming's 27-point spread was the second largest margin by which the Cowboys have ever trounced the Pioneers. They managed a 42-12 victory in 1950.

Wyoming picked up their first TD just seven plays after the starting gun with John Watts, Schlater, Miss., receiving a pass from star quarterback Larry Zowada, Sheridan, Wyo., to step over for the score.

Wyoming 20 ---- Colorado Aggies 12

FORT COLLINS, OCTOBER 6. Tailback Jim Crawford and wingback John Watts scampered 21 and 83 yards against the Colorado A&M Rams Saturday night to spearhead the Wyoming Cowboys to a 20-12 victory over Colorado Aggies for Wyoming's second Skyline win and the fourth victory of the season.

In defeating the Aggies, the Pokes maintained their 320 yard total offensive pace despite most stubborn and inspired play on the part of the Aggies.

While the Rams concentrated on stopping Jim Crawford, quarterback Larry Zowada took to the air for 95 yards tossing four of five passes to senior wingman Buster Elder. He sent wingback John Watts around the weak side for a net of 94 yards, while Crawford pounded the strong side for a 68 yard net and one touchdown. The Aggies proved to be a rugged outfit, but never seemed to have the necessary fire to forge ahead. The Cowboys' long gainers were, apparently, the big factor in the Aggie defeat.

Wyoming 20 ---- New Mexico 13

LARAMIE, OCTOBER 13. The Wyoming Cowboys, undefeated in five starts this season picked off a troublesome New Mexico University 20-13 today in a game witnessed in chilly, windy 48-degree weather by a slim crowd of 6,021 fans.

Tailback Jim Crawford sparked Wyoming to the league victory with two touchdowns and two extra points. The Pokes showed up rather poorly and may have been winners only by the grace of the clock which put the brakes to a very tough Lobo scoring drive that could possibly have tied the game.

The Lobos played rough ball, putting Bob Marshall, first string end, and Jack Langford, veteran guard, out with fractured ribs. Wyoming's center strong man, Vince Guinta, was kicked out of the game in the third quarter on a personal foul.

Wyoming 30 ---- Utah 20

LARAMIE, OCTOBER 20. A Homecoming crowd of 16,833 fans watched the Wyoming Cowboys defeat Utah 30-20 and bring closer to home the Skyline Conference championship. The outstanding back of the game was Jim Crawford, who after making a 23-yard run for a touchdown, passed ten yards for another TD and gained 154 yards by carrying the ball 31 times.

Larry Zowada completed six out of nine passes for a total of 95 yards, connected one for a touchdown and completed four out of five to help the Cowboys gain their third touchdown.

This game was the first time Wyoming has beaten Utah in War Memorial Stadium, the first they have defeated Utah in a homecoming game, and only the second time they have downed the Redskins in Laramie. The other victory came in 1949 at Corbett Field, now no longer in use.

The winning combination of tremendous power plus terrific line play in the Utah game added 154 yards to Jim Crawford's season rushing total giving Wyoming's clutch cowboy 605 yards with four games still to be played.

Wyoming 27 ---- Kansas State 15

LARAMIE, OCTOBER 27. The Cowboys, riding on a six-game winning streak, came from behind in the last quarter today to defeat a determined Kansas State team 27-15. The win was Wyoming's seventh in as many starts.

The Pokes capitalized on the smashing line play and running of John Watts and Jim Crawford to score two touchdowns in one minute and four seconds of the last quarter. The Cowboys tallied one more insurance TD on a fumble recovery by Frank Bonds plus a 15-yard penalty against K-State. Warren Benson scored through the middle for the final TD.

K-State jumped off to an early lead after Wyoming bogged down on their own 15. Tony Addeo carried the ball to the Cowboy 20 and fullback Ralph Pfeifer scored the first touchdown for the Wildcats. The rest of the Cat scoring was on a field goal by halfback Ben Grosse and a 62-yard run by Bob Keady.

Wyoming 21 ---- Utah Aggies 0

LOGAN, NOVEMBER 3. The Wyoming Cowboys clinched at least a share of the Skyline Conference Championship with a decisive 21-0 victory over Utah State. Wyoming lost four plares and Utah two due to outbreaks of slugging. Hi-light of the game was a 67-yard touchdown run by Jim Crawford, who boosted his year's total to 912 yards gained.

Snow fell during most of the first half with the temperature standing at 26 degrees, but the adverse weather seemed to have little effect on the Cowboys. The first quarter saw both teams getting breaks. Utah's came when they recovered a Crawford fumble on their 48-yard line. Wyoming had their break when Hill was rushed and ran instead of punting and was brought down on the fifty-yard line.

Wyoming was in command virtually all the way. Utah State's lone threat came in the opening minutes. After that the Aggies couldn't put together a sustained drive. They gained only 106 yards rushing to Wyoming's 339.

Wyoming 34 ---- Montana 13

BILLINGS, NOVEMBER 10. Coach Phil Dickens captured his first Skyline Conference crown as the Pokes fought hard to defeat Montana and finish off their ninth straight football victory. This is the Pokes' first Skyline Conference championship since 1950.

If the Pokes defeat Brigham Young next Saturday at Provo, they will set the University's second unbeaten record in history. There are also hopes of a bowl bid as a result of the conference title and the so-far undefeated season. But, at this point Athletic Department officials have nothing of a definite nature to report. We can hope though, can't we?

Montana received the opening kickoff. Then, the Poke machine went into action. Buster Elder, Poke end, recovered a fumble in the second play of the ballgame to put the Cowboys on the Grizzlie's 44. John Watts, ace wingback, carried the ball for five yards around left end. Quarterback Larry Zowada connected with Watts in the end zone for a 39-yard touchdown pass. All this in the fourth play of the ballgame.

Early in the second quarter the Grizzlies grabbed a momentary lead and went on to hold Wyoming to a 13-13 halftime tie. In the last half the ballgame was the Poke's all the way.

Wyoming 7 ---- Brigham Young 6

PROVO, NOVEMBER 17. The Wyoming Cowboys concluded their 1956 season against a hard fighting BYU team today. Although the Pokes won this one 7-6, it was only by the grace of God and a poor conversion.

It was an inspired BYU team that the Cowboys met today and they gave the Pokes a plenty tough tussle. With this game the Pokes clinched the Skyline football championship.

BYU fans apparently expected a Poke runaway and stayed at home. However, such was not the case even though the stands were only half filled.

Early in the third quarter a light snow began to fall. Both the Pokes and BYU had a hard time hanging onto the ball. Poor visibility caused a fairly successful BYU passing attack to fall flat on its face in the last half and left Wyoming's Jim Crawford and John Watts wide open for their running attack. The heavy Poke line made things tough on BYU and with the final gun the Pokes won.

COACH EV SHELTON

Wyoming's veteran and supremely successful cage coach, Everett F. Shelton, is, this year, gambling on sophomore hustle and ability to keep the Cowboys in the high Skyline standing he is so used to.

There's perhaps no one in basketball who can prepare better for the big games than Shelton and hardly any who has a better over all record than the Cowboy's Coach of Champions. In 19 previous seasons coaching college teams (including his first three at alma mater Phillips University) Ev has won 367 games and lost only 155.

His seventeen campaigns at Wyoming have brought the Cowboys seven Skyline titles and one national championship. It took just one warmup season, the 1939-40 campaign, before Ev was ready for his first crown in 1941. His national and mythical world title game came in 1943, conference championships came in 1946, 1947, 1949, 1952, and 1953. This year's dismal season was his worst since coming to Wyoming.

The 1956-57 Cowboy cagers should not be underrated, however. This team made brilliant showings against terrific opposition and, although they lost many battles, could be considered a better than satisfactory team.

The Cowboy soccer team ended its second season with quite an impressive record. This team played excellent ball against other competitors in the Rocky Mountain Collegiate Soccer League. During the past season the team made impressive showings against Colorado College, Denver University, U.S. Air Force Academy and the Colorado School of Mines. A great deal of credit must go to Case Leenheer who had enough love of his sport to carry it to UW campus.

Baseball

Cowboy baseballers start the season with high hopes of corralling the Skyline championship. Pre-season practice ended March 31 when Wyoming took a trip to New Mexico and Arizona for some pre-conference games and general limbering up. At the time the Wyo goes to press we have no information about baseball other than the glowing pre-season reports. Coach Bud Daniel has high hopes that his team will be contenders all the way.

Poke thinclads have been working since February for their most ambitious schedule in years including a trip to Arizona and New Mexico at the end of March. "But," says Coach Wiles Hallock, "add our 1956 graduation losses to unforseen departures since January 1st, and you have a team stripped of virtually all previous experience, not to mention all but four points we scored in placing second in the 1956 Skyline meet."

This may well be dismal season for Poke track hopes if Hallock's prognostication holds true. However, at press time the Wyo can only hope that this team will rise to the occasion and bring home some of the bacon anyway.

Wyoming's defending Skyline wrestling champions under the deft hand of Coach Ev Lantz go after their fifth undisputed crown in the last eight years as the Wyo goes to press. Unfortunately we cannot report the final standing of this Poke team, but it is more than apparent that they're the finest wrestling team in the conference this year. The Wyo bets on the Cowboys to win the conference. This year's matsters are spearheaded by two champions, Stan Wintermote and Jesse Stokes. A good group of freshman standouts makes the future look bright for the Cowboy matmen and Coach Lantz.

Swimming

The 1956-57 Cowboy swimming team turned into one of the bright spots on the Poke sports agenda having either won or placed high in all meets entered. The Pokes' strongest competition emerged in the Denver University Pioneers. This team went undefeated during the balance of the season having met and beaten some of the top teams of the Northwest. However, the Pokes sustained a morale lowering defeat at the hands of DU. At press time the Poke team has not yet gone into the final elimination for the conference championship. However, it is apparent that Coach Dave Glander's boys will be a tough match for any opponent. They'll be certain to win a high place, at least, in their final meet.

Skiing

The University of Wyoming ski team showed definite determination and a will to win this year. The Laramie environment with all its snow should be highly conducive to UW's having an excellent and top-ranking ski team. However, such is not the case since a member of the UW ski team must show a real love of this sport to drive the 60 to 120 mile round trip to practice. One shot in the arm to skiing this year was the opening of the Woodedge ski area which provided a fairly excellent mid-week practice spot. Nevertheless, skiing as a team sport at Wyoming is hampered by the lack of facilities. The team did show well in the competition this year. Skiing at Wyoming is one sport that draws not only top-flight skiers as enthusiasts but snow bunnies as well. Where the middle ground likes no one is certain, but on the next page we even have a few UW instructors trying their luck on the waxed hickories.

At the time the Wyo goes to press we have no available information concerning the Golf team's standing in the conference. However, the Golf team does look good. Its membership makes Poke hopes high for a good 1957 season. Coach Alford has had his men practicing since early spring, so it looks like another fine year for Cowboy Golf prospects. With the addition of several good freshmen, prospects look excellent for the future.

Tennis

The coming of spring saw the Poke tennis team already hard at work. The old question, "Anyone for Tennis?", demands more than a casual answer from Coach Bearley's UW team. When Bill Bearley was asked about his expectations for the coming season he told us that, while his team was probably not as strong as last season's, he still had plenty of good boys. Unfortunately, at Wyo press time Coach Bearley had no answer as to how his team was doing this season. We can only predict a good season for this Poke team, that is constantly battling unpredictable spring weather.

Cadet Lt. Colonels Russ Simpson, Bruce McMillan, Tom Osborne.

The University recognizes that preparation for national defense is one of the important obligations of citizenship, and that qualities of patriotism, loyalty, discipline, leadership, and respect for constituted authority, inculcated by military training, are valuable in character building. These characteristics will be an asset to the graduate and will prepare him to serve his country in the most effective capacity in an emergency. It was with this end in mind that the Department of Air Science was established on the campus in 1952.

Arnold Air Society

Selected for their high degree of military aptitude and academic achievement, the members of Arnold Air Society are advanced Air Force ROTC cadets. The society sponsors the well known "girls in blue," or the Angel Flight. Highlighting the year is the annual initiation banquet, where the developers of air power are honored. The purpose of the society is to further the traditions and concept of the United State Air Force as a means of national defense, to promote American citizenship, and further the amiable relationship among all ROTC students.

Air Force Summer Camp

During his advanced AFROTC program, the cadet will spend four weeks at a regular Air Force summer camp. At this camp he will receive class instruction, and physical training which rounds out the program of theory and drill offered at the University. This year's summer camp was held at Fairchild Air Force Base, Spokane, Washington.

Army Reserve Officers Training Corps

The Department of Military Science and Tactics offers four distinct levels of instructions by year to the student of Military Science. Completing the advanced courses and the summer camp leads to a reserve commission in the United States Army upon graduation from the University. Army graduates may receive their commissions in ay of fifteen different branches of service, depending upon the student's academic subjects, personal qualifications, and experience. The Army ROTC unit consists of an Army staff and a Cadet Corps. At present the Cadet Corps is organized as a Regiment of two Battalions of three companies, each complete with Cadet staffs, and an Honor Guard. The Army ROTC also sponsors the Corpettes, University coeds who aid in enlistment work and social functions.

Army ROTC

Between his third and fourth year at the University, the advanced ROTC student attends a six week's summer training camp. Summer camp training stresses outdoor practical work, which rounds out the program of theory and drill offered at the University. Students receive a Government travel allowance for travel both to and from summer camp, and during attendance they are furnished rations and quarters, as well as uniforms. This year's summer camp was held at Fort Riley, Kansas.

Scabbard and Blade

Top rank of the UW Army ROTC students are the members of Scabbard and Blade. These fellows rank in the upper fourth of their military classes. The group carries out a number of projects each year, with the most notable being the Military Ball which Scabbard and Blade co-sponsors with Arnold Air Society. Scabbard and Blade also keeps football spectators on the alert with the traditional flag-raising ceremony complete with booming artillery. In past years during initiation time, the usually quiet of the campus is shattered by the sound of booming cannon as the initiates go charging into the no-man's land of Prexy's Pasture armed to the teeth with wooden swords. This year's president was Sam Contos.

The gals with the fish pond in their living room made it another great year at Wyoming with their social functions, pledge costume dances and early spring formal dinner dance. Shirley Schwabrow was the Alpha Chi president this year and the girls were well represented on campus this year by AWS president Evie MacDougall, who was also a member of Mortar Board and was elected to Who's Who. Other Alpha Chi's who were active on campus were Janice Hansen, Spurs, and Susan Knouse, assistant class editor on the WYO.

The rough hairy chested men on campus are the Taus. Not restricting their activities to gymnastics, the ATO's are to be found in all phases of campus life. This year they placed in the Homecoming Sing, Kenny Henderson and Bruce McMillan were elected to Who's Who, Tyler Dodge served on the Student Senate, Bruce also served as Arnold Air Society prexy, the chapter prexy, and was an ODK member. Kenny Henderson was president of Kappa Kappa Psi, Phi Delta Chi, and the student branch of the American Pharmaceutical Association. On the social side, the Taus sponsor some popular campus functions, among them the Bowery Ball.

The K Sigs will have one distinction on the UW campus which no fraternity can claim. They were the first group to live on fraternity row. The K Sigs contributed greatly to the crop of student leaders this year. Chuck Johnston served as student body vice president, chapter president, ODK member, and Who's Who. Jim Carter was a Student Senator, ODK, president of Alpha Epsilon Delta. Branding Iron editor Dick Bohrer, also was elected to Who's Who, president of Pi Delta Epsilon and Fourth Estate. Dale Peterson and the Carroll twins were also senators, with Bill Carroll a member of ODK. Jim Cowper served as Newman club prexy. Publications row saw Dick Perue the Directory editor and BI desk editor, and Wee Willie Norman, the WYO business manager and BI sports editor. Phi Kappa is unique among UW fraternities, as philosophy and teachings of the Catholic church founders are included in the fraternity's instruction program. Although the Phi Kaps are small in number they are well represented in most campus affairs. They have a tradition which is a standout. When one of their number is about to get married, the boys have an old-fashioned bachelor's party. President of the chapter this year was Joe Martino.

Rod was also chosen to Who's Who, and the AWS WYO King. Marvin Barbula was WYO copy editor and varsity football players Jack Langford, Warren Benson, and Mike McGill, and baseball player Bob Fisher represented the boys in campus athletics. Dick Barratt saw duty in the University theater. Cries of Phi Alpha could be heard as the Sig Alphs paraded their famous Kilty band through the streets of Laramie in the Homecoming parade. Wyoming Alpha took top honors in Eta province this year as their candidate for Miss Eta province, Claudia Gillette, was chosen to be queen at the 101st anniversary celebration of SAE's founding. Sigma Chis are noted for, among other things, their varsity lettermen. Among them are John Watts and Leo McClellan. Besides being brawny the boys are also brainy. Three Sigma Chis were chosen to Who's Who this year. They are Tom Lockhart, John Watts, and Jerry Hand. Hand is also student body president. Digger Smith is a member of the Student Senate. WYO sports editor and BI features editor is Tom Kidd. President of the chapter this year was Dale Ellis. Outstanding social functions are the Baby Bawl, the Sweetheart Ball, and the annual Derby, at which time representatives from campus sororities and the girls' dorms compete in everything from egg throwing and kissing contests to the body beautiful competition.

The guys with the new ranch style home on fraternity row are the Sigma Nus. Known for their scholarship, these happy fellows are also known for their campus leaders and all around good parties. Copping the top honors in the Homecoming Sing this fall was just a start. Senator Bob Snyder and Who's Who member Bob Bruce represented the Sigma Nus in campus politics. Each year, the talk of the campus is the fabulous Chanticleer spring dance which starts at four in the morning and lasts until late afternoon. Karl Harper was assistant WYO editor and Vic Cook was Layout editor of the WYO this year. Chapter president was Bob Bruce.

Sig Ep men were active on campus both social wise and serious wise. Who's Who member John Tanner returned from abroad and had many tales to tell of his IFYE excursion. The Sig Ep's Eiffel Tower took first place in the snow sculpture. The gals on campus may forget a name or two, but they will long remember the six a.m. doughnut and coffee breakfasts and the bonfires built on the Kappa lawn. # Agriculture Club

This group centers much of its time and activities around the Little International, held in the spring each year. Competition for the dearly sought prizes in agronomy and animal production projects, as well as the livestock showmanship contest runs very high among the members. Another duty of this club is to care for the UW mascot, Cowboy Joe. Other activities of this all male group are the agriculture college banquet and the annual spring picnic.

American Institute of Architects

The skyscraper designers of tomorrow, the American Institute of Architects is an organization designed to help its members gain more professional experience in the field of architecture. Top features in the AIA activity year come as the group sponsors an open house in the engineering department, lends support to the Engineering Ball; "and a good time was had by all" on the annual field trip.

American Institute of Electrical Engineers and Institute of Radio Engineers

These are high-line men in more ways than one. The American Institute of Electrical Engineers and Institute of Radio Engineers join together to provide students with an opportunity to participate in functions through their own initiative. Seeking to broaden student acquaintances with the outside engineering world and to stress the development of engineering qualities beyond the classroom are two main purposes of AIEE-IRE. Taking field trips through Wyoming and Colorado, assisting with the open house and Engineers' Ball are looked-forward-to social functions as well as business propositions for these electricians.

The knights of the transit tamperers — the civil engineers belong to the American Society of Civil Engineers, an organization open to both men and women. High spots of the social calendar for these engineers are a smoker, a picnic, the open house display, Engineers' Ball decorations, and field trips to Cheyenne, Denver, and other project areas in this region. To give well deserved recognition this organization confers an honor book, the Swenson Structures award, and two memberships to the Wyoming ASCE section.

Cosmopolitan Club

A miniature United Nations on the UW campus, how well this describes the Cosmopolitan Club. Composed of foreign students as well as American students, this organization strives to better international relations and is both an educational and social organization. Activities include dances, discussions, smorsgasboards, and of course the traditional farewell spring picnic. This group also prepares discussions and programs for UN Day programs and International Affairs Conventions.

Masters of machines or mastered by machines – these are the members of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. This organization holds meetings and movies to acquaint its members with new processes and ideas in the mechanical engineering field. As Engineering students and future engineers meet twice monthly, they discuss new ideas and present problems. Two representatives from ASME sit in on the engineering council which governs engineering activities.

Collegiate 4-H Club

Collegiate 4-H Club counts among its membership state 4-H leaders of high school days; for as a prerequisite of joining, these students must have participated in at least one year of 4-H work. Cooperation with the state 4-H organizations, and the Extension service is the primary service of this organization. The International Farm Youth Exchange affords one of the outstanding members a chance to live and work with farm families of foreign countries. This group is also active in helping with the registration and program for the annual state 4-H leaders conference, and the Little International held on the campus in the spring.

Home Economics Club

An organization with high ideals, the members of this club must be in the upper two-fifths of their class, have high professional attitudes, high morals, good leadership in other activities as well as the Home Economics club, and have a strong interest in Home Economics. The homemakers are busy girls during the year, working on the Sophomore Home Ec party, the Founder's Day Banquet, selling of High Altitude Cook Books, carrying out the initiation ceremonies, and recruiting and interesting high school students to attend Wyoming U. One of the many purposes of this club is to strengthen the bonds of friendship among Home Economics women by this organization of women with allied interests.

Orchesis Club

The "Rockettes" of the UW campus, this organization headed by Mrs. Mains strives to develop coordination and grace, and to teach modern dance principles to UW coeds. Organized last year, Orchesis holds meetings in the gym in the traditional outfit (leotards of multi hues) and works out many dance routines. As a result of hours of "bar" practice, many members earn positions in the Wyo Days tour with their colorful dance routines.

Red Pencil

With the crimson style as their insignia, this group of education majors and minors is interested in promoting the field of education and preparing students to be future teachers. Entertaining high school FTA clubs, erecting the traditional triptic (a religious scene) near the library at Christmas time, and furthering their teaching-method knowhow are a few of the activities that keep these members quite busy.

Intercollegiate Rodeo Club

Most of these students carry an interest and a love of the equine and bovine from pre-university days. This common love and interest is in the field of rodeoing. Sporting a fine NIRA team, the Rodeo Club puts on one of the finest indoor collegiate rodeos in the country. Featured in their annual show is calf roping, bucking contests, steer decorating, and numerous other events. In connection with their annual blow out is the Powder River Ball, and a parade with numerous floats entered by various organizations. The Rodeo Club also sponsored a saddle raffle, picnics, and other social events this year.

Rocky Mountain Rescue Team

Originally formed by the Outing Club, the RMR team is prominent in stressing safety programs for mountain climbing. The team furthers its education and practice by taking weekend outing trips and climbing expeditions. Some day RMR hopes to become a link in a chain of rescue teams covering the Rocky Mountain region.

"Just sign right here!"

"Well will you look at that!"

Outing Club

This is one of the few organizations based purely on activeness, as no bench-warmers are welcome. Arm chair spectators just don't participate in skiing, rock climbing, horseback riding, and speelunking. Eagerly looked forward to by the outing club members, are the ski trips, rides, and steak fries. Of course most popular among all the avid ski fans is the Winter Carnival. This winter, as in the past, the group sponsored inter-Greek skiing and independent competition, snow sculpture, snow shoe races, and of course the UW students picked a Sno-queen. This year's queen honors went to Claudia Gillette. Also important in the club's activities is an accident prevention program.

Campus Christian Fellowship

The Campus Christian Fellowship has as its goals to invite students to consider the life Jesus Christ offers and to have fellowship through an interdenominational organization. This year, the members held a Homecoming banquet, and a fall and spring conference on various religious topics. Floyd Ellison is the president of the group.

Canterbury Club

Home on the UW campus for the Church of England students, is the Canterbury Club. Participation in Sunday suppers and discussion programs, Communion breakfasts every Wednesday morning at seven, fall and spring retreats and occasional parties and picnics is enjoyed by the group. Communion services are performed each day during Lent, and Canterbury Club congregates on Shrove Thursday for a pancake supper. Open to all students wishing to use it, the Canterbury Club furnishes a club room with TV, ping-pong and a small library.

Lambda Delta Sigma

Lambda Delta Sigma is an organization unique on the Wyoming campus. It is actually two organizations in one. The members of this group are also members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. LDS is divided into two sub organizations, Alpha chapter for men students and Omega chapter for women. Center of the group's activities is the LDS Institute at 12th and Grand. Every Thursday night is meeting night, and the LDS group enjoys such things as parties, musicals, and speaker programs. Highlight of the social year are three formal dances held each fall, winter, and spring. Larry Call is president of Alpha Chapter and Dorothy Berrier is president of Omega chapter.

Newman Club

Containing a chapel and recreational facilities, the new youth center for the Newman Club was completed this spring. This has been the big project of the Catholic students on campus for several years. Meanwhile, the club goes right along with its present program featuring weekly meetings at the parish hall, recreation, singing, and discussions. Once a month the group meets with a guest speaker for a Communion breakfast.

Roger Williams Club

Sporting a full calendar of social events, the Roger Williams Club sponsors holiday parties, banquets, and splash parties. On the more serious side, this Baptist students group partakes in devotionals and discussions. The group studies and plays all week long in the student center located on Grand Avenue, and on Sunday the Roger Williams Club meets before church services, conducts evening services, and fellowship meetings.

Student Council of Religious Organizations

The World University Service Auction, sponsored by SCRO is the primary project of this organization. Held annually, at the mere raise of a hand one can purchase a Supressed Desire Party, a Ninth Street Hill shindig, or a date with a campus letterman or campus king-queen date. Money raised from the auction is used for overseas students. Distributed through WUS, the funds help students of the world unite to help each other help themselves. SCRO encourages church participation and helps new friends find the church of their choice. Religious Emphasis Week is highlighted on the SCRO calendar by the appearance of many religious leaders from Laramie and other campuses.

United Christian Fellowship

A new organization on campus this year, United Christian Fellowship represents a merger of the University Westminster Fellowship, Disciples Student Fellowship, and includes students of the fellowships of the Congregational and E&R churches. The purpose of UCF is to provide opportunities in study, worship, fellowship, and service which will contribute toward maruting the Christian faith. This group participates in study groups, Sunday evening meetings and in SCRO of which a major function is Religious Emphasis Week.

The Methodist students on campus strive to improve their citizenship, leadership, and churchmanship through the Wesley Foundation. Their varied activities this year included a Homecoming float, suppers, discussions, their regular meetings, and other recreational programs. The enthusiastic Wesley members also participate in initiation ceremonies, special Lenten services, and a banquet and formal dance. All in all, it has been a wonderful year for the Wesleyans.

Knight Hall

Knight Hall continued to add to their trophy case this year as they took first place in the Independent class at the traditional Homecoming Sing. Further honors were added as Knight's candidate, Marian Ries, was crowned Homecoming queen attendant. The hall is the campus home for more than 200 women students, most of which are upperclassmen, but this year many of the freshmen girls found themselves getting their first taste of college life at Knight Hall.

Hoyt Hall

The green pea dorm is the home-away-from-home for the freshmen girls at the University of Wyoming. Happy shouts and after hours parties prevail as the busy frosh spend their time doging proctors and answering buzzers.

Frosh are welcomed at the annual Big Sister Round-up

Wyoming Hall

Wyo Hall is the typical men's dormitory found on any campus. Full of men . . . some students . . . some College Joes, this hall has its share of pranksters and odd happenings at any hour of the day. The largest and newest dorm on campus, Wyo Hall holds 400 students . . . two to a room and is fortunately completely fireproof.

Imagine that!

Men's Residence Hall

Within these walls live the University of Wyoming athletes. The supervised dorm under the direction of the Athletic Department is the only one of its type in the Skyline conference. It's rumored that the best food on campus is served. Although named Men's Residence Hall, for all practical purposes at Wyoming, the dorm is the Athletic Dorm.

A motley crew, one and all.

A posed picture if I ever saw one.

This is a University, not a trade school.

They call it dancing.

This is the way we go to class.

Wonder if I should tell him now?

Progress. . .

Our story opened with the excavating of the new William Coe library. It ends as the steel rises toward the sky. Through the preceeding pages you have seen 1956-57 at the University of Wyoming . . . truly a great year forward . . . indeed a story of progress.

Swan Song

It's all over now but the shouting. Quiet invades Room I34 of the Union basement. Somehow, we've found all the pictures and the copy. The staff has a feeling of relief and the editor is over the measles. It is hard to realize that there is nothing left to do but wait for the finished product.

The year has been anything but uneventful. At times the only outstanding characteristic about the staff was its ability to participate in all campus activities with the exception of the WYO. We have had our share of laughs and more than our share of trying moments as we found we just didn't have enough time to cover everything.

This year, the WYO has attempted to put into words and pictures the essence of 1956-57 at the University of Wyoming. The traditional format has been discarded to a large extent. Emphasis has been put on the more personal features of campus life and a primary aim has been to escape the major fault of yearbooks — that of merely catologing faces.

It is not possible to thank everyone who has contributed to the WYO, but to the staff goes the lion's share of the credit. We worked this year with a skeleton crew, many of whom were inexperienced, but experience was gained in a hurry. Special thanks go to Tony Darnell of Newsfoto Publishing Company for his invaluable technical aid, advice and moral support.

A year's efforts are now in your hands. You are the final judge of our success. If the book gives you pleasure now and serves as a reminder of the past in days to come, then we have achieved our goal.
